No one is sure how April Fool’s Day began. There has been silliness in the spring for thousands of years. In April, fish in the rivers are more easily caught. In France, a foolish person who was easily tricked was called an "April fish."

In Europe, by the old calendar, the first day of the new year was the same day as the first day of spring. There were many New Year’s customs: visiting friends, giving presents, and other happy activities. In 1582, a new, more accurate calendar was made by Pope Gregory. The beginning of the year was changed to January first. But many people continued to celebrate New Year’s Day in April. Other people called these people who would not change their calendars "April Fools." They sent funny presents or played tricks on them.

Dear Ann:

Long time no see. I just came back from England. I went there to visit my cousin, Bonnie. The weather there is very different from that in Taiwan. It’s cold in the early morning and evening. It is sometimes rainy. But when the sun shines, it is hot. I don’t like the weather there because it changes a lot. I like the weather in Taiwan at this time. It’s getting warmer and warmer so that people can go outdoors to exercise.

How is the weather in your country? Does it still snow in spring?

Sincerely Claire
