Do you like drinking coffee? Do you know its origin? The coffee plant was first found in a place called Kaffa in Ethiopia, east Africa.
It is said that a shepherd found some goats got excited after eating the red berries and he told that to a monk. Then the monk boiled the berries to make a bitter drink. The drink made him feel energetic. It became a popular drink in Eastern countries like Egypt and Arabia. In late 1500s, the businessmen brought coffee to Europe and began to sell it there. At first, the coffee was imported, so Europeans wanted to grow it by themselves. After finding the weather in Europe was too cold for coffee plants, they grew coffee in their colonies in the USA and Asia. Right now many coffee shops in Taiwan are Italian style. Actually, the first coffee shop opened in Venice, Italy. Soon the coffee shops spread around Italy because people love places like coffee shops to drink coffee, relax and chat.
It was called ‘the devil’s drink’ because of the religious reason but later the Pope himself could not resist its good taste. Now it becomes a favorite drink for many people around the world and there is even instant coffee for lazy coffee lovers.

6. Who was the first person to see goats eating the coffee plant?
(A) A monk. (B) A shepherd. (C) The businessmen. (D) The Pope.

7. Which of the following is false?
(A) Coffee not only tastes delicious but also makes people feel energetic.
(B) There are many coffee shops in Italy but the first one was in Venice.
(C) Europeans grew coffee in their colony countries because of the weather.
(D) Coffee starts from the West and then people brought it to the East.
