People celebrate the Dragon Boat Festival in May or June. The festival has a long history. The story is about a poet named Chu Yuan. He loved his country very much, but the king didn’t listen to him. He failed to help his country, so he drowned himself in the river. Many people in Chu Yuan’s country liked him. They looked for his body in the river. They made rice dumplings for the fish, so they didn’t eat the poet’s body.

Today, to remember the poet, people make and eat rice dumplings, and row beautiful dragon boats on the river. People can watch the boat races at the river or on TV, and cheer for their favorite team. People wear sachets for good luck, too.

5. When is Dragon Boat Festival?
   (A) In spring.  (B) In fall.  (C) In winter.  (D) In summer.

6. In the sentence form the reading, “They made rice dumplings for the fish, so they didn’t eat the poet’s body.” What does “they” mean here?
